

Patient process for pre-operative orders

To ensure a smooth and timely experience on the day of your c-section

Arrive at Abbott Northwestern and check in at the Admitting desk for lab orders

- Admitting staff will verify your information and insurance.
- You will receive an armband and labels to bring to the lab

Check in at outpatient lab

- Lab staff will verify and release your orders.
- You will receive a second 'blood product' armband.
- Your blood will be drawn.
- Blood bank staff will verify that the information on the tubes matches your armband before you leave.

Special note: DO NOT remove armbands. These will need to remain on for three days or until you are discharged following your c-section
